SLIDES OF FAMOUS HISTORICAL HOMES WILL BE SHOWN AT ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING, NOVEMBER 26

A short but fascinating program has been chosen for the November meeting because of the annual business agenda and election of officers.

Instead of the customary speaker, the program committee has arranged a "tour" via colored slides of some of the most important historic restorations in America plus a few highlights of places and events in Haddonfield associated with the Society's endeavors.

This historical and architectural feast has been made possible by one of our members, Lou Goettelmann, noted architect, architectural historian, seasoned traveler and photographer and, of course, the husband of our president, Martha Goettelmann.

Among the many places of interest Lou will show are the J. Fenimore Cooper House (1789) and Capt. James Lawrence House (1781) in Burlington, N. J.; the Richard Wood Mansion (1730-1797) in Greenwich; and the Alexander Grant House (1721) in Salem. These are now headquarters for historical societies.

Views of several outstanding homes in New York State will be shown including the Van Courtland Manor House, Croton-on-Hudson, (1665), and Sunnyside, home of Washington Irving (1835-46) in Tarrytown.

NEXT MEETING

DATE: Tuesday, November 26

TIME: 8 P. M.

PLACE: Friends Meeting House
Annex, Lake Street.

Traveling South, members will see the Hammond-Harwood House in Annapolis, Md. (1774), designed by Wm. Buckland who earlier designed Gunston Hall in Virginia for George Mason. This house is considered one of the finest examples of Georgian architecture in the country.

Virginia's great historic mansions will be well represented with views of Gunston Hall (1755); Stratford Hall, the home of Robert E. Lee; the memorial mansion, Wakefield (1725), George Washington's birthplace; and two historic gems in Fredericksburg—the Law office of James Monroe who started his practice here in 1786 and the last home of Mary Bell Washington, mother of the president.

Three great restorations in North Carolina will be shown—the Tryon Palace Restoration at New Bern, the first

PRESIDENT REPORTS ON TERMS ACHIEVEMENTS

By Martha K. Goettelmann

Your president is now approaching the second year of her second term and in retrospect may I review the highlights of our years together. I wish to express my appreciation and thanks to each member and trustee who has made these accomplishments possible.

This year is the 250th Anniversary of the Borough of Haddonfield and with the celebrations soon for the State's Tercentenary in '64, it was a busy time during which we were proud to assist in historical research. Inaugurating ceremonies were sponsored by our Society with its town meeting February 19th, addressed by New Jersey's historian-author, John T. Cunningham.

HADDONFIELD BOOK PUBLISHED

Our major project for the anniversary was the publication of "THIS IS HADDONFIELD," an authentic volume of over 285 pages and more than 70 illustrations. This definitive book traces the story of our town from its beginning. It represented the product of more than a year of research by our History Book Committee.

PROGRAM FOR ANNIVERSARY

Other events for the celebration were a walking tour of homes, gardens, and historic sites; a very successful Candlelight Tour of eight old and historic homes and buildings attended by 570 persons; the special cancellation stamp for mail posted locally; our participation in the Historical Pageant's 4th of July Parade with our float showing a replica of our History Book, and to assist visitors we placed forty dated house and site markers on historical locations. The Civic Association donated the markers and we did the research and actual placement. In conjunction with our anniversary year a successful membership campaign was held resulting in an increase of eighty members. We held a President's Tea in their honor.

BETTER LIBRARY FACILITIES

Our Library has improved its facilities with the addition of a portable typewriter purchased with the members' generous donation of green savings stamps. The famous Rhoads collection of books, pamphlets, and manuscripts has been indexed and recorded and placed for research in a new fireproof type metal bookcase as requested in Mr. Rhoads' will. We have added additional shelving and a fifteen drawer metal file to help in the Library's expansion.

PRESERVATIONS, PURCHASES

Another very important event was the preserving of the town's oldest house, known as "The Hip Roof House," 23 Ellis Street, for posterity, by our purchase of it through the help of our members, friends and a town supported campaign.

The substantial reduction of our mortgage on Greenfield Hall was another accomplishment.

We purchased forty metal folding chairs with padded seats, available for meetings and lectures in Greenfield Hall. Our fine old Venetian blinds are now being refurbished for the front rooms. Acquisitions, such as fine china, furniture, costumes and three published genealogical records of Haddonfield families, have been made to the Society. A bulletin board was installed in the hall for current notices and two peg boards on stands built for displays.

ities last year were The Flea Market held on the grounds of Greenfield Hall and a series of lecture courses. They are selling commemorative plates, ash trays, note paper, dolls and fracturs. Funds raised by these were used to purchase a fine used refrigerator, an oval braided rug for the Keeping Room, and new lamp shades throughout the building.

EDUCATION, INFORMATION

For the past two years the Haddonfield Adult School has presented a series of educational lectures on "American Antiques" in Greenfield Hall.

Tours of the building have been made by school children, scouts, patriotic societies, libraries and other historical societies.

Our informative bulletins issued three times a year and our outstanding programs on local, state and national interests, given at our four meetings each year, are the primary privileges of membership in The Historical Society of Haddonfield.

1964 LECTURES ANNOUNCED BY WOMAN'S COMMITTEE

An interesting series of four lectures, sponsored by the Woman's Committee of the Society, is scheduled for January 23, 1964, February 23, March 26 and April 23. The lectures will be held at Greenfield Hall; each one-hour lecture will start at 1 P. M. A limited number of tickets are available at $5.00 for the entire series.

In January, Fannie Bell Arnold will present, in costume, an illustrated talk on "Ceylon, Pearl of the East." Mrs. Arnold, a Philadelphian, has traveled extensively and her slides on Ceylon show this ancient city as it appeared yesterday and appears today.

The subject of the February lecture will be "Prints," with Mrs. Edna McCauley displaying her noted collection. In addition to her interest in prints, Mrs. McCauley is known for her paintings and for her knowledge in the fields of antiques and music.

Unusual slides of places of historical interest will be shown at the March lecture by Elizabeth Danenhower.

"Antiques" will be the general theme of the April lecture and details of an unusual presentation which are now being formulated will be announced in the local papers and in the February Bulletin.

Tickets for the series may be purchased through the chairman of the Woman's Committee, Mrs. Elizabeth Danenhower, 301 Evans Avenue.

The Woman's Committee holds its monthly meetings the last Tuesday of the month. Those interested in attending the meetings or working on the Committee are cordially invited to attend.

permanent Colonial Capitol and the first State Capitol of North Carolina, built in 1767-1770 by Royal Governor, William Tryon; the William Gibbes House (1772) with its Adam-designed Ballroom; and the Nathaniel Russel House (1809), one of the outstanding Adam houses in America with its famous free-flying stairs and oval drawing rooms.

It will also be a rare treat to see this selected group of Haddonfield slides—among which are interiors and exteriors of Greenfield Hall taken at the July 1961 and 1963 outdoor meetings and at the Flea Market on the grounds, June 13, 1963.

As interesting as the pictures will be Lou's commentary, sharing with us his unusual knowledge of the outstanding details of each of these places.

SECOND CANDLELIGHT TOUR DOUBLES ATTENDANCE

The success of the Society's Candlelight Tour of seven historical Haddonfield homes on October 19 exceeded even the fondest hopes of its hard-working committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Helen Streeter. An attendance of 570 visitors was recorded with net receipts totaling $1076.41.
